

Answer :

Put the verbs between brackets in the correct form (future simple or perfect).

Not many Moroccan NGOs are concerned with sustainable development. But by the year 2010, the number of these associations (double) will have doubled. if they continue making women and youths aware of getting engaged in political life, they (help) will help promote their educational potentials.

Consequently, many people (become) will become able to play their role in society in a short time. As a result, by the end of this decade, young people (regain) will have regained confidence in political parties, women (become) will have become more educated and the elite (be) will have been convinced to participate in development instead of withdrawing

www.Achamel.net